

European Commission

A NEW START TO SUPPORT WORK-LIFE BALANCE FOR PARENTS AND CARERS

#SocialRights

Across the European Union, women remain considerably underrepresented in the labour market and in management:

- The overall employment rate of women is still 11.6 pp lower than that of men.
- 31.5% of working women work part-time vs. 8.2% of working men. This is especially the case for those with children.
- Just over 50% of women work full-time, compared to 71.2% of men. Therefore the full-time employment rate gap reaches 25.5 pp.
- Caring responsibilities are reasons for inactivity for almost 20% inactive women, while this is only the case for less than 2% of men.

Taking action is not only a question of fairness, but it is also an economic imperative: the economic loss due to the gender employment gap amounts to around €370 billion per year. The European Commission is proposing a Work-life Balance package, which will help working parents and carers by not obliging them to make a choice between their family lives and their professional careers. The proposal sets new or higher minimum standards to create more convergence between EU Member States, by preserving and extending existing rights.

In addition, the European Union will support Member States in:

- Adopting measures to ensure accessible, affordable and quality formal care services
- Reducing tax and benefits disincentives for women to work more.

Other measures will include:

- prioritising EU funding
- awareness-raising measures,
- sharing of good practices,
- enhanced monitoring, including through the EU Semester,
- benchmarking
- improving data collection at EU level.
